

Do not cling to old seasons

The Lord brought me the revelation that, sometimes we are clinging so much to seasons of lack and “small harvests” that our hands are not free to grab hold to the new seasons He brings.

When He brings a new season of abundant provision and harvests we must let go of the old season, must let go of how things worked, how we felt, what we were use to.

We must let go of the old, so that our hands are free to grab onto the new season.

If we do not let go of the old seasons, when the new ones come, we will be delaying what He wants to bring to us in the new season.

Most often the “holding on” is because we are so use to the way things were, so comfortable with it, that we resist change, even when the change will bring great things to us.

Let it go!
